MEDICAL.

THE PREMATURE DECAY OF YOUTH.

JUST PUBLISHED BY DR. STONE,

A PHYSICIAN to the Troy Lung and Hygeiolic Institute, on the early Decay of American Youth; the vice of Self-Abuse and its direful consequences; Seminal Weakness and other diseases of the Sexual Organs in both male and female.

The above work has received the highest commendation from several leading papers of the Union as one of the most able ever published on this subject of such vital interest. It is for extensive distribution, and it will be mail in a sealed envelop to any part of the country, on receipt of two stamps for postage.

☞ Fail not to send and obtain this book.

A Word of Solemn Conscientious Advice to those who will Reflect.

A solemn fact that 180,000 die annually in the United States with consumption, marasmus, or premature decay. There cannot be an effect without an adequate cause. In view of the manifold destruction of human life and health, by marasmus or premature exhaustion and decay of the nervous system—nervous debility, caused by sexual diseases, such as the vice of Self-Abuse, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Impotence, Leucorrhœa, Virulent private diseases, both in male and female, and Sterility, and organic diseases of the kidneys, and in view of the deceptions which are practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks and base pretenders, the Directors of the Troy Lung and Hygeiolic Institute have instructed their attending physician to give medical advice, gratis, to all patients thus afflicted, male or female, who may apply letter or personally, with a description of their case, to a first-and reliable means of cure. And the institution proposes to treat the afflictions, and in case of extreme poverty and suffering, for a sum that will only compensate the cost of medicine.

☞ The most reliable consultation advice will at all times be given by the physicians of the Institution, both to Male and Female, respecting the diseases of the sexual organs. Medicines and treatment will be sent by mail or express to applicants, to all parts of the country, and the Institution will guarantee the success of treatment.

☞ The attending physician will be found at the Institution for consultation, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. of each day, Sundays, in the forenoon.

Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygeiolic Institution, and Physician for diseases of the Ear, Throat, and Lungs, 96 Fifth street, Troy, N. Y. ad d&w ly

MANHOOD.

How Lost, How Restored.

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelop,

A LECTURE ON THE NATURE, TREATMENT, AND RADICAL CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, Nervousness, and Involuntary Emissions; Impotency, Consumption, and Mental and Physical Inability.

By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.

The important fact that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without the use of medicines or the dangerous application of caustics, instruments, medicated bougies, and other empirical devices, is here clearly demonstrated, and the cultivator of a highly successful treatment, as adopted by the celebrated author fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure himself perfectly, and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal to any address, post paid, on the receipt of two postage stamps, by addressing Dr. C. J. KLINE, M. D., 480 First Avenue, New York, Post Box 4,586. ad d&w ly

MEDICAL.

This is really a Good Medicine, warranted to Cure.

BOX ISLAND, Bedford, Va., Nov. 1, 1851.

MESSRS. DOVE & CO.—Gentlemen: I used about one-fourth of a bottle of your Tru Oil upon the back of my horse, the worst back I almost ever saw, entirely raw, a place nearly as large as my hand, and the kindly application (I only applied it once) cured it up entirely and permanently. I really was surprised at the quickness of its curative properties, and I think it more prompt and efficacious than anything of the kind I ever saw, and I have sold thousands of bottles of other preparations for similar purposes.

Respectfully, J. P. BONDURANT.

SURRY COUNTY, Va., January 1, '58.

GENTLEMEN: My old man, Billy, almost burned me while heating iron with a bradawl, split the end of the fire-poker down in the lame, about four inches, cut the tin artery. Bled profuse for two days, and continued to bleed until your Tru Oil was applied to him but bruely. I could not see it up, but applied a piece of lint with your Tru Oil and had it on the rag. I did not expect him, on account of his age, ever to be able to work again. I continued to dress the wound two or three weeks with the Tru Oil. In six weeks the cut was entirely well, and he was at work again.

Very respectfully, ELEXIOUS JONES.

Editors Louisville Journal:

GENTLEMEN: I am today afflicted and laying sore for the scratching of a cat in the WM. PRICE, of your city. I have been redeemed from the most dreadful of all suffering, for a long time, for years I have been afflicted with the effects of Onanism or self-abuse, and having failed to get relief from celebrated physicians, I was advised to apply to DR. PRICE, which I have done, and, after experiencing from his treatment the most perfect relief,

I make this communication from the most unsolicited of motives, hoping that all that are similarly afflicted will find relief as I did. And if the physicians who treated me are of the 1858, there are many in the same dreadful of all conditions.

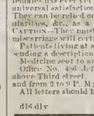
A CITIZEN.

AFFLICTED, READ!

WONDER OF THE WORLD!

15 YEARS' SUCCESS IN CURING PRIVATE DISEASES.

DR. HALL



Continues to cure when all others fail every form of Syphilis in an incredible short time. Has a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent. Dr. H. has now the gratification of prescribing the unfortunate with confidence that have never, since he first introduced them, been found wanting in a single instance, the most alarming cases of Gonorrhœa and Syphilis. By his own system it is proved that the direful virus can be entirely eradicated from the system, under the control of medicine as less common cold or simple fever; and, while he continues to practice daily sending away their patients in hopefulness, and giving them up cured in a few weeks, his success in complete and permanent cures are constantly being effected by Dr. H.'s therapeutic agency.

YOUNG MEN TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. H. devotes much of his time to the treatment of those cases occasioned by a secret habit, which ruins health both body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for either business or society. The sad and melancholy effect of these early habits, or the excesses riper years, are to weaken and debilitate the system, render the physical and mental powers, diminish and engender the natural feelings, and unless the fatal cause is removed, the pleasure of life are marred, the object of marriage defeated, and consequences entailed of a term of unceasing misery and regret. Such persons, especially those contemplating matrimony, should not trifle in making immediate application, as Dr. H., by his new treatment, is called to ensure a speedy and permanent cure.

DR. HALL'S AMERICAN PERIODICAL PILLS. No article of medicine ever before for the exclusive use of females has ever yet been introduced that has given such universal satisfaction as they have done, and still do. They can be relied on in all cases of illustrations, irregularities, &c., as a safe and reliable remedy. Price $1. CAUTION.—They must not be used during pregnancy, or miscarriage will certainly follow.

Patients living at a distance can be cured at home by sending a description of their disease.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1860.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE ON THE STUMP.—A correspondence has passed between John C. Breckinridge and some of his friends, and he is to make a speech, as we announced yesterday, near Lexington on the 5th of September. It is ostensibly in mere compliance with the request of friends that he consents to speak, but both the request and the compliance were arranged by him and them in council. The invitation and the acceptance are simply matters of form.

We are well pleased however that John C. Breckinridge is to make his appearance upon the stump. His own organs, it is true, have denounced and derided stump-speeches as unworthy of, and disgraceful to, a candidate for the Presidency, yet we are glad that their man is about to place himself in a situation where he can scarcely fail to feel constrained to speak an intelligibly if not boldly in regard to some momentous matters, which, since his very extraordinary nomination at Baltimore and Richmond, have deeply agitated the public mind.

Mr. Breckinridge sets it forth as the object of his intended speech to reply to the charges that have been made against him. The principal charge against him, as all know, is, that he has accepted a nomination for the Presidency at the hands of Disunionists, and, that he persists in being a candidate with a full understanding that he is the special candidate of the Disunionists, relying almost exclusively upon them for whatever show of strength he may be able to make in the canvass and in the election, and knowing full well, that, without his having any chance of success, the whole effect of his running is to promote the election of Lincoln, the very result for which his leading friends say that they will dissolve the Union. This is the charge, and we shall be glad to hear what he has to say in reply to it. It is the truth, the strict truth, the undeniable truth, and he must meet it face to face.

Now that Mr. Breckinridge is about to stand up before the people and plead his own cause, he must, as we have said, speak out upon the great questions of the day. His notorious position as the candidate of the Disunionists makes it especially necessary that he shall speak plainly and definitely and unmistakably upon the various questions connected directly and closely with the subject of Disunion. It is well known that all his organs and leading advocates in the South maintain that a State has a right to secede from the Union whenever she pleases and to establish an independent government of her own, and that the Federal government has no business to interfere with her in the excrcise of such a right. Does Mr. Breckinridge agree with his organs and advocates in this matter, or does he not? It is notorious that all his organs and leading advocates in the South assert, that, if Mr. Lincoln shall be elected to the Presidency in November by the people of the United States in accordance with the forms prescribed by the Constitution, the result will be a just and imperative cause for the immediate disruption of the Union. Does Mr. Breckinridge agree with his organs and advocates in this matter, or does he not? It is an unquestionable fact that all his organs and leading advocates in the South hold that the omission of Congress to enact the laws necessary for the maintenance of slavery in the Territories in opposition to the will of the Territorial Legislatures and the Territorial people would make it the right and the duty of the South to strike at once for the disruption of the Confederacy. Does Mr. Breckinridge agree with his organs and advocates in this, or does he not? The question whether a State has a right to secede and set up for herself whenever she pleases, whether the election of the Republican candidate for the Presidency would be just cause for the dissolution of the Union, and whether the neglect of Congress to provide slavery-legislation for the Territories would authorize and render expedient the disruption of the confederacy, are the great questions of the day, deriving tenfold importance from the position of Mr. Breckinridge and the attitude of all the leaders and organs and oracles of the party that sustains him, and, now that he is coming voluntarily before the people for the avowed purpose of making the country understand exactly what he is and where he stands and how he stands, he must answer fully and clearly if he would entitle himself to any measure whatever of the nation's respect and regard.

We know that some of our Breckinridge's supporters allege that he has never expressed Disunion sentiments. Whether he has or has not is not now the inquiry. All those who have expressed Disunion sentiments, and who are daily expressing them, and whose whole hearts and souls and minds and lives are given to Disunion, are supporting him with the utmost zeal, and they are notoriously doing so for the accomplishment of their Disunion purposes. If he has anything to say, let him say whether he is with the controllers of the masses of his supporters or against them. If he is not with them, let him not seek to escape responsibility by alleging that he has never uttered this or that or the other sentiment, no, let him have the virtue, the manliness, the courage to proclaim before the face of all the world the antagonism between himself and his nominators and supporters. Let him tell what he would do or what he would not do if he were President of the United States and a State should attempt to separate herself from the Union and establish herself as an empire in the midst of it; let him say what he would do or propose if he were President and one or more States should undertake to break up the confederacy on account of the result of an election or the refusal of Congress to protect slavery in the Territories against the popular will; let him make himself distinctly and thoroughly intelligible upon these highly interesting and important points, let him render impossible any future misunderstanding or misconstruction in either the South, the North, or the Centre, and he will at least entitle himself to respect for his candor and his courage.

☞The Union papers throughout the entire South not only proclaim in strong and exulting language the daily strengthening of the Bell and Everett cause but give names and facts to justify their exultation. In looking through the South, we of course give no heed to South Carolina, for she is a mere political anomaly in our land, but there is not another Southern State from which we are not daily receiving the most glowing and encouraging accounts of our party's rapidly brightening prospects. Our friends in Virginia count that State as nearly certain for Bell and Everett and perfectly certain against Breckinridge and Lane, our friends in North Carolina look upon success as fully as sure to them, our friends in Georgia and Alabama talk of the great accessions daily made to their ranks, and anticipate glorious triumphs in November; our friends in Louisiana seem to have no more doubt of their State than we have of our own, and even our friends in Mississippi are encouraged to cherish strong hope if not indeed strong confidence.

In all the States we have enumerated and in other, old and influential Democrats, men who have devoted their lives and all the energies and influence of Democratic zeal, are declaring in favor of the Bell and Everett ticket, deeming this the best means of defeating what they cannot but see to be a dark and fearful conspiracy for the destruction of the Union.

☞On the 23d March, 1854, John C. Breckinridge, in the House of Representatives, in urging the passage of the Kansas bill, used the following language, reported in the Congressional Globe, vol. 28, page 726:

"You do not pass the bill you will furnish fuel for political Abolitionists, and add to the flame of those inflammables that can only exist in the fire of strife. If you pass the bill, their occupation will be gone. You will have erected a barrier against which the rampant spirit of fanaticism will strike in vain and recoil in overthrow.

On the 25th May of the same year, John Bell, in the United States Senate, in deprecating the passage of the same bill, said:

Sir, the tendency of this bill is to stimulate the formation of a sectional party or sanction, and, as I said in my speech on the passage of the Nebraska bill, I regard that as the last and most fatal evil which can befall this country, except the dissolution at the Union.

Now it foresight, sagacity, and the ability to judge of the probable effects to result from peculiar causes, are necessary ingredients in the character of a statesman, who exhibited these qualities to the most advantage six years ago, Breckinridge, when he asserted that the passage of the Kansas bill would overthrow political Abolition and erect a barrier against the rampant spirit of fanaticism, or John Bell, who said the passage of that bill would stimulate the formation of a sectional party organization? Well may the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle call the prescient declaration of John Bell "the gift of second sight," when the rise of a sectional party, dated from the time that the Kansas-Nebraska bill, against Bell's warning, and by the aid of Breckinridge and others, who were either too blind to see its ultimate effects, or too wreckless and unprincipled and too intent on party success to care for consequences, became the law of the land. Our Georgia contemporary thus briefly shows the effects of the passage of that bill:

Previous to 1854, the anti-slavery party, as a political organization was powerless and contemptible, so far as concerned its ability to achieve success for itself. In 1844, it was able to defeat America's greatest statesman and purest patriot, Henry Clay. In 1848, under the lead of Martin Van Buren, it had power to defeat Gen. Cass—but in neither case could it accomplish anything for itself. The whole vote cast by the anti-slavery party in the elections of 1850 had well nigh destroyed the party—it had become powerless even to defeat the Democratic candidate, Gen. Pierce, in 1852, though led by another Democrat, Senator Hale, of New Hampshire. But in 1856, fanned into a new life by the wicked or foolish action of the Democratic party, in passing such enormous outrages really to alarm every patriot in the land, it succeeded in electing a sectional President, and that body should provide for a State convention which should protect the State from the dishonor of submission to Black Republican rule." Now we should like to know of the Pennsylvanian if this is "the position assumed by South Carolina in the Presidential contest," or whether it be not followed by the whole South, could not fail to result in the election of Breckinridge and Lane. In that State are to be found many of the press and leading men of the party who would dissolve the Union. This is the charge, and we shall be glad to hear what he has to say in reply to it. It is the truth, the strict truth, the undeniable truth, and he must meet it face to face.

Now that Mr. Breckinridge is about to stand up before the people and plead his own cause, he must, as we have said, speak out upon the great questions of the day. His notorious position as the candidate of the Disunionists makes it especially necessary that he shall speak plainly and definitely and unmistakably upon the various questions connected directly and closely with the subject of Disunion. ☞On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, there was a terrible thuttering in the Breckinridge flock throughout the whole country on account of the report that their chief was about to withdraw or to be withdrawn. He remains, however, upon the track, and he will have to remain whether he wishes to do so or not. He has sold his political soul to the devil of Disunion, and in all things he must execute the foul fiend's will.

BELL AND EVERETT IN ARKANSAS.—The Arkansas State Gazette says that from the Western part of the State, heretofore the stronghold of the Democracy, it has the most cheering accounts of the Union cause. Hon. David Walker, one of the truest, purest, and most eloquent men in the State, has taken the field for Bell and Everett, and his efforts have had a very telling effect. Gen. Thomason, Union Elector, is out with a list of appointments. He is one of the best speakers in the country, and Disunionism will fly or fall before him. In the hands of Walker and Thomason and Spring and Gunter and Bedford and other good and true men, the Union banner in the West will wave high in victory over all Disunion opposition.

We are also in great hopes that Mr. Cypert, the Union candidate for Congress, has beaten Hindman in the First District, though it is almost hoping against hope. The Helena Shield says Col. Hindman concedes his defeat, but to overcome the usual Democratic majority of nearly 10,000 seems impossible even in this age of political revolution.

☞The powerful names of Alexander H. Stephens and Augustus R. Wright head the Douglas electoral ticket in Georgia as electors for the State at large. We heartily rejoice that Mr. Stephens has taken the field in Georgia against the disunion movement. It will most assuredly be crushed in that home of its supposed strength. Georgia will vote against Breckinridge and Lane. In less than four weeks that fact will be evident to all minds.

☞Mr. Covode, the investigator of Democracy corruptions, made a speech at Rochester, N. Y., last week. Speaking of the investigating committee, of which he was chairman, he stated that Hon. George W. Jones, of Tennessee, who has for sixteen years been a Democratic member of Congress, told him in a private conversation, that the investigating committee had saved the Government a million of dollars.

☞On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, there was a terrible tluttering in the Breckinridge flock throughout the whole country on account of the report that their chief was about to withdraw or to be withdrawn. He remains, however, upon the track, and he will have to remain whether he wishes to do so or not. He has sold his political soul to the devil of Disunion, and in all things he must execute the foul fiend's will.

☞It occasionally amuses us to remember a conversation that we had two days before the late Kentucky election with a very active Breckinridge politician of this city, who, we knew, enjoyed the fullest freedom at the headquarters of Breckinridge intelligence here. Of course we shall not give his name, but there can be no harm in our telling what the conversation was. We asked our Democratic friend what he thought would be the result of the contest on the ensuing Monday. "Well," he replied, "McClurg will carry the State by a large majority." Struck with the entire confidence of his tone and manner, we enquired of him whether he said this as a mere matter of opinion or as a matter that he felt he knew. He answered, 'I may say that I know it." We asked how he knew it. He hesitated a moment and said that he did not feel at liberty to tell how he knew it, but that he did know it; and, after a few moments, he added, "Mr. Breckinridge, you know, is young and ambitious and cannot afford to be beaten in his own State in such an election as this. McClarty's election is necessary to him, and he and his friends have taken the necessary means to secure it. Some may question the propriety of this, but at any rate it has been done, and I for one think that Breckinridge is right."

We have a pretty fair set of nerves, but we think they shook a little at the ornerlar words of our Democratic friend and remained slightly out of order until they were tuned and set right by the clear-ringing shouts from the polls on the glorious morning of the 6th inst.

It is well known here that a Mr. Price, now holding the responsible and lucrative position of Treasurer of the United States, was relieved from a discharge of his duties, whilst his salary was regularly paid to him, and his duties imposed upon the very efficient and laborious chief clerk of the bureau, so that he might return to his home in Missouri, and run for Congress and defeat Maj. Phelps in the Fourth Congressional district.

Washington Statesman.

We suppose that this is a fact, for the Washington States is a careful and a truthful paper. And if it is a fact, if the Treasurer of the United States was relieved by the Administration from the discharge of his official duties, with no suspension of his salary, that he might go to Missouri and run for Congress to defeat a Douglas candidate, the proceeding is one for which men may well be at a loss to find an appropriate name. We need only say of it that it is in strict keeping with the general character of this Administration, the most unscrupulous and depraved and shameless Administration, beyond all comparison, that the nation has ever been cursed with—an Administration countenanced and sustained and enlarged, to be sure, by the Disunion party, the Yancey-Breckinridge party, but scorned and execrated by all other parties in the land.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—The Raleigh Register gives returns of the late election, excepting nine counties, in which the whole vote polled in the Governor's election is 103,728, by far the largest vote ever polled in the State. Gov. Ellis beats Mr. Pool about 5,500. Mr. Pool gains on the Bragg and Gilmer vote upwards of 7,000, and on the Ellis and McRae vote about 11,000. In the Legislature, the Union party has made a clear gain of sixteen members—fifteen in the House and one in the Senate—and this is the "glorious victory" for which the Courier and the Yeoman have been displaying their cannon and their crowing roosters! Why it is equivalent to a defeat and secures the State to Bell and Everett in November, for the Douglas men, who voted for Ellis, have already commenced a thorough organization, and will have a State Convention and a separate electoral ticket.

☞Our neighbor of the Courier tells his readers that he now knows that Kentucky will go for John C. Breckinridge in November. This neighbor of ours charges occasionally that our friends have at various times lost a great deal of money by betting upon elections on the strength of our expressed opinion.

And now we repeat a question we have already once or twice asked—will the Courier's friends bet that Kentucky will go for Breckinridge? In other words, have the Courier's readers as much confidence in its pretended knowledge as ours have in our mere opinion!

If the Courier can find any of its numerous admirers who would venture to risk their money upon what it assures them it knows will take place any information as to their names and localities will be gratefully acknowledged.

☞Although the Breckinridge men have attempted to repudiate the nitro views of Mr. Yancey and insist that the Vice President should not be held responsible for them; still Mr. Yancey has been called from Alabama to speak at Memphis and other places. He declounces all who support Bell or Douglas as "broken down politicians" and "Hessians," and applies such terms to ex-Gov. Foote, of Mississippi, Hon. Jere Clemens and other gentlemen who have long enjoyed the public confidence. We are therefore justifiable in claiming that Mr. Yancey is the full embodiment of the sentiments, wishes, and objects of Mr. Breckinridge and his immediate supporters in this State.

☞Hon. Henry W. Hilliard has consented to canvass the Fourth Congressional district of Alabama, in co-operation with Colonel C. W. Lee, the elector for that district, in support of Douglas and Johnson.

Mr. Hilliard descried us and joined the Democrats some years ago, but we are glad to see that he retains too much of the spirit of the fine old party of which he was a distinguished ornament to consent to fight in the ranks of the enemies of the Union.

☞A Bell and Everett paper in Arkansas illustrates the victory in Kentucky by a cut of a coon sitting on a prostrate rooster and playing the violin, with a cotillion of coons dancing in the back-ground. The lunatic Louisville Courier goes almost into hysterics at sight of this cut. The Courier must be getting nervous in its old age. In its younger years, cuts of big and little coons bidding and dancing over dead Democratic roosters were very common in its columns.

Orr, of South Carolina, is in favor of a dissolution of the Union. "Orr" always was a disunive conjunction.—Low Down.

We really think, neighbor, that you should not, in the very number of your paper in which you sneer at "the wit and wisdom column of the N. Y. Ledger," take the liberty of appropriating items from the wit and wisdom columns of the Louisville Journal. If you had half as much wisdom as you have wit you wouldn't do it.

☞Gov. Seward, in his speech at Boston on Tuesday night, said the peoplecof Maine told him that they would give Lincoln 20,000 majority but that they had some uneasiness about New York. Mr. Seward told them they might set down their majority in Maine at their own figure, and then multiply it by four, and they would approximate the fuquority in the State of New York. We put this on record to test the Senator's spirit of prophecy.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.—We learn from good authority that the arrangement of Mr. Breckinridge and his friends is that he shall make five or six speeches in Kentucky during the canvass. We shall not be at all surprised to find him extending his tour through Tennessee and perhaps through other States.

☞There is not a non-slaveholding State in the Union in which Breckinridge and his supporters are not used, and that too with their own knowledge and consent, as mere instruments to promote the election of Lincoln and Hamlin.

☞Mr. Breckinridge said just before leaving Washington City that what he especially wanted at the approaching election of Clerk in Kentucky was an overwhelming majority. We apprehend that it has been "overwhelming" enough for all purposes.

☞We see that the committee of the late Breckinridge Convention at Frankfort have addressed Kentucky. We don't believe that their addresses to her will prove successful. She thinks she can do better, and knows she couldn't do worse.

☞John C. Breckinridge said sorrowfully that Gen. Combs had received less for his services to his party than any other man in the country. But the party has done something for him at last. So you may dry up your tears, Joan.

☞The proceedings of the Bell and Everett meeting of Spencer county, Indiana, were highly patriotic but the account of them comes to hand so late, and our paper is so crowded with matter, that we can hardly afford to publish them.

☞The Democratic State Central Committee of California has split, part for Douglas and part for Breckinridge, and both wings have called conventions and published addresses, and will put up separate electoral tickets.

☞The Evening Citizen, published at Vicksburg, Miss., has come out for Douglas and Johnson. It was formerly a Breckinridge and Lane paper.

Gen. Sam Houston refuses to withdraw from the Presidential canvass. We do not see why he was asked to. He certainly is not in anybody's way.—Democrat.

You will find the old gentleman pretty sparsely in the way of any candidate that shall attempt to run against him in Texas.

Disappearance of W. H. RUTLEDGE!

Public Meeting.

A T a Meeting held in the Brick Schoolhouse in Shelby county on Saturday, July 28th, 1860, the subject for consideration the disappearance of W. H. RUTLEDGE and the evidence pertaining thereto, Wm. Smith was called to the Chair and W. H. Hawood and Wm. Atkeson appointed Secretaries.

A motion having been made to that effect, the Chair appointed the following gentlemen a committee to hear the evidence in the case and report resolutions to the meeting for action: Wm. Grove, Thos. Gilliland, Wm. Welch, T. B. Berry, Jas. D. Berry, Wm. Gregg, Jesse Robinson, W. H. Hawood, and W. Reynolds.

The committee, after hearing the evidence, retired, and, after consultation, reported the following preamble and resolutions to the meeting, which were adopted without a dissenting voice:

At a meeting held by the citizens of Shelby and Jefferson counties for the purpose of investigating the murder of W. H. Rutledge, whom we believe to have been murdered in the city of Louisville on the 25th day of May, 1860, a committee appointed by that meeting, report the following preamble and resolutions for your adoption:

Whereas, From the evidence submitted to us, we are led to believe that a cold-blooded, premeditated murder has been committed on the person of a peaceable, honest, industrious, and unoffending citizen taken and a widow and orphan children made by black-hearted assassins who are now at large, and have set at defiance the law by secreting the body of their victim, therefore,

Resolved, That we deem it our duty to meeting, after hearing the evidence produced on the trial of James Rookie Berry, Jr., and other witnesses, to announce that was not to be the court, that he is implicated in the murder of the said Rutledge.

Resolved, That after hearing the evidence against Tranel Coon and John T. Penn, the meeting is forced to believe that they know something about the fate of W. H. Rutledge.

Resolved, That after hearing the evidence against George Coon for obtaining the said Rutledge on the 18th of January, 1860, in his own yard at work, with the intent to kill, this meeting is bound to say that the said Coon ought to be brought back and dealt with according to law.

Resolved, That each person present who believes the above resolutions to be the same to have his name to them in testimony of his belief.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Louisville Journal.

PLAN OF UNION ORGANIZATION.—The State Executive Committee here has adopted the following plan of organization for the five lower districts of the State. In a few days they will have full lists of committees appointed in all the precincts and counties, and the work of active organization will be set on foot. We trust nine gentlemen who are now written to by the Committee will be prompt in responding. The Central Committee at Frankfort are also actively engaged in the work.

1st. One person shall be appointed for each county, who shall act as Chairman of the County Committee, and shall have power to appoint as many others as he shall deem proper, to associate with himself. The County Committees shall appoint Precinct Committees of not less than four persons in each election precinct of their county, whose duty it shall be to completely organize their respective precincts.

2d. The Chairmen of the County Committees shall act as committees in all the Legislative, Senatorial, and Congressional districts, to determine the time, place, mode, and manner of holding Conventions for the choice of candidates in these several districts. They shall correspond with the State Executive Committee, and give all the assistance in their power to thoroughly organize and completely canvass the State. Each County Committee shall manage the canvass and organization of its respective county, under the advice of the State Executive Committee.

3d. The duty of the precinct committee is most particularly to ascertain the politics of every voter in their respective precincts, and to form some plan by which every friend of the Union party shall certainly be brought to the polls on election day. No well drilled corps ever goes into the field without a muster roll, and every precinct committee should have a complete list of the Union men of their precinct. They should also keep a vigilant watch to defeat schemes for the colonization of voters or other frauds.

4th. Conveyances should be provided for the old, infirm, or poor men of the precinct, to take them to the polls and back home again in all the country districts. Nothing is easier, nothing so important, and nothing more universally neglected. Ten votes thus neglected and lost in each precinct will make a total of 12,000 in the State.

5th. Every member of the Union party should vote before 10 o'clock in the morning. It not only gives help a good start and discourages his opponents, but affords ample time to hunt up the strugglers and get every vote polled. Whenever a doubtful voter can be secured they should not fail to labor with them. If the precinct committee have no influence pursue the Democratic plan, ascertain who he most relies upon and send those persons to talk with him.

☞ We are authorized by the Union State Central Committee to announce that E. P. Barbour has been appointed an assistant elector for the State at large.

The Commonwealth and other Union papers are requested to notice the fact.

☞ W. R. Kinney, assistant Elector for the State at large, will address the people of POISONING CASE NEAR INDIANAPOLIS. — We stated yesterday that the family of Mr. George Mann, who resides near Indianapolis, had been poisoned by the introduction of arsenic into their bread. Elizabeth Holliday, the girl accused of administering it, was arrested in Indianapolis on Wednesday. The Journal says she had purchased twenty-five cents worth of arsenic with money which she says was given her by a man named Dreer, stating she wanted to kill rats with it. In regard to administering the poison, she tells a conflicting story, saying she mixed it in the meal of which the bread was made, and again stating that Dreer made this use of it. She assigns no reason for committing the deed.

On Tuesday morning she refused to eat breakfast, and, after several members of the family commenced vomiting, she left the house saying she would go for a doctor. She wandered about for several hours and came to the city, where she was seen in the afternoon. She was in the streets during all of Tuesday night and yesterday morning up to the time of her arrest.

She says she is the daughter of a minister who died in this city about four years ago. Another history gives her a very different kind of relationship. She has an ill looking countenance and a badly shaped head.

PEACEABLE CONDITION OF THE TERRITORIES. A letter received at the Indian Bureau at Washington from Major F. Dodge, Indian Agent for Western Utah, dated "Camp at Lake Bigler, Sierra Nevada Mountains, July 8th," reports his arrival there and a conference with the Washoe tribe. Although efforts had been made to precipitate this tribe into war with the whites, the policy of the Government has proved as successful with them as with the Pah-utes at Mono and Walker Lakes. Major Dodge arrived on Sunday and made the poor Indians happy by feeding the hungry and clothing the naked. He writes: "They are now in their camp rejoicing and blessing their Great Father in Washington.

PAINFUL OCCURRENCE.—The wife of John M. Ingersoll, Esq., editor of the Owasco (Michigan) American, was killed on the 18th by the explosion of a fluid lamp, which she was filling. Two birds of the surface of her body was hastily burned, but the immediate cause of her death was doubtless in consequence of inhaling the flame or the burning fluid. The scene of suffering and agony, from the time of the accident until she fell into the arms of death, is indescribable.

FIRE IN MEXICO, MO.—On Tuesday night last, the "Audrian House," owned and occupied by Mr. Henry Williams, of Mexico, Mo., was burned to ashes; but fortunately, as in the case of Dr. Allison's hotel, no lives were lost. The building, it is thought, was set on fire about midnight, and in an hour it was almost entirely consumed. The building and furniture were worth $9,000, upon which there was an insurance of only $2,500.

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette says that during the burning of the German Institute in that city, last Saturday afternoon, there were removed from the building thirteen thousand ball cartridges. The Gazette was aware that the Institute was in its character hermaphrodite, part theatre, part drinking saloon, but did not know that in addition to these it was part arsenal.

SALES AT GEORGETOWN.—Monday was court day in Scott county. The Journal says the stock sales aggregated $24,384 30. Horses were sold at from $60 to $150. Mules from $63 to $150; cattle at from $12 70 to $30 10. Hogs were sold at from $4 75 to $5.

REVIVAL.—Rev. C. D. Donaldson has just closed a protracted meeting at Pleasant Run, in Marion county. The result was that sixty-two made a profession of religion and thirty-five additions to the M. E. Church, South.

☞ A man named Dr. Knowlton has been arrested in Memphis on the charge of stealing $3 100 in drafts and a small sum of money from David Newell.

☞ A meal and well conducted paper called the Sentinel has been established at Niagara City, N. Y., by C. B. Gaskill & Co.

CITY AND SUBURBAN ITEMS.

Trains for the Encampment leave at 9 and 10 A. M., and 2:35, 3, & 4 P. M.

It is a singular fact, that but one firm in Louisville desires the rich trade of Logan and adjoining counties; or the others are too penurious to advertise. That solitary firm is Messrs. Prather & Smith, whose card will be found in to-day's paper.—Brandisville Herald.

There is a grave truth concealed beneath this sarcasm from our friend Oscar C. Rhea, Esq. If our people want the trade of those localities opened to us by the Nashville and the Memphis Branch railroads they must advertise in the papers all along the routes. To show the difference between the vigorous and the imbecile policy, the Philadelphia Pennsylvanian compares the manner of conducting business and the efforts used to procure trade in that city and New York. In the latter city everything is done in the ad captandum style. The merchant who at vast outlay fills his rooms and stocks his shelves with the world's merchandise, no sooner does so than he sets about attracting the attention of customers by every device and display known to the trade. The front of this building he occupies is covered up with signs, informing the passers-by of who he is, and what he has for sale; from his windows stream samples of his goods, and everything around and about his establishment betokens that he is determined as one outside shall remain ignorant of what is to be found inside. This display being made to attract the attention of the passers-by, he then takes steps to call the notice of those who do not pass by, and these also he lavishly attend, and to this end he seeks the advertising columns of the press. This he does, as he does everything else, upon an extensive scale, and this well-filled columns of the New York papers tell with what spirit he does it. He does not stop to inquire, when about to advertise his wares, what the political principles of the paper are; that is no part of his concern, as he is after customers. He knows, that, no matter what a man's political opinions, he must have goods, and he is just as ready to sell to one opposed to him politically as to one of his own creed, and therefore he spreads his advertisements around without regard to political likes or dislikes. The consequence of all this is, that he makes trade and has a ready sale for all he offers, and continues to give to the city, of which he is a part, the character for go-ahead-ativeness which it enjoys.

Very differently is it done in other places where the vast majority of those who are engaged in trade seem to imagine that when they have filled their stores, their work is done, and sub silentio, they await the coming of the public, who are left entempting the outward displays of the former city, they retire quietly to the snug recesses of their marts, and hope to make much gain by "hiding their light under a bushel." When they do think it advisable to call attention to their stocks by adverti-ing, most of them are particular to see that the conductor of the paper agrees with them politically, as though it would be altogether out of place to apprise any others than those of their own political faith that they have goods to sell. How absurd is this, and how unbusiness like. How blind to their own good, and how unwise in their course the results of the different system in New York city fully prove. Nor need we go that to see it, for we can find it here in our midst in the persons of many of our merchants who have followed the example of their fellows in the former city. The man who advertises and thus informs both buyers and consumers where their wants can be supplied always has succeeded and always will succeed. Liberal advertising is the life of business, and he who does most at it can always do most at anything else. If our merchants would reflect properly upon these matters, they most assuredly would adopt a different course.

A merchant's efforts to attract trade should not end with advertising in the local papers. Wherever he can make his influence felt in the localities which depend upon Louisville for supplies, there, too, should he advertise. We find that the circulation of the Journal increases, by a natural law, with the extension of railroads, and that our readers become more deeply interested in the news from points on those roads. This shows the reciprocity of feeling that will soon be established if our merchants extend their advertising. Who, then, will be the first to follow the excellent example of Prather & Smith, and give the Russellville Herald so further opportunity of commeating on the supineness of Louisville?

A NEW HOUSE.—Such persons as are engaged in the retail trade will thank us for calling attention to the new establishment of Messrs. Wright, Fetching, & Co., at No. 541 Fourth street. This new firm occupy the old stand of Benanon & Thatcher, having purchased the entire stock of those gentlemen, to which they have added their own, embracing large and fresh importations of silks, dress goods, white goods, hosiery, watches, jewelry, and notions generally. The members of the new concern are individually and warmly commended to the confidence of the trade. Mr. Richard B. Cox, the junior partner, is a native of Louisville, and having had almost a life-long experience in his present line of business, knows the wants and tastes of the trade. Mr. Cox has been connected with the house of Ias. Low & Co. for a period of ten years, and his excellent business training, combined with unexceptionable natural habits, fits him to lead successfully in a complicated business. We wish the new firm a prosperous career.

ELECTRO THERAPEUTIC BATHS.—These baths at Dr. J. K. Clark's establishment, on the North side of Jefferson street between Second and Third, have been in full operation for several weeks, and we are glad to learn that they are attracting a great deal of attention. Dr. Flint, who administers the baths, has had a great deal of experience in the business and seems to understand it perfectly. He is very thorough in his practice, bestowing a greater amount of personal attention and labor upon his patients than we have ever known bestowed by any other practitioner.

We invite attention to Dr. Clark's advertisement of his baths. We believe that they produce all the results that he ascribes to them.

THE ENCAMPMENT.—In order to guard against intrusion, and to prevent annoyance from the presence of unruly persons, it has been decided to charge a gate fee at the Fair Grounds of twenty-five cents. This is a very judicious arrangement, and the public must heartily commend the directors for their foresight. We may state that those gentlemen who have contributed to the expenses of the encampment will be provided with the requisite tickets of admission by application at the office on Fifth street. *THE ENCAMPMENT.—Camp Boone was inaugurated yesterday. Very nearly two hundred officers from different parts of the State have reported for duty. The admirable land from the Newport Barracks is in attendance, and was accompanied by several officers from that vicinity. The officers of the Guthrie Greys, of Cincinnati, are also in attendance. We are prevented this morning from entering more fully into details, as we desire to make room for the following Orders from Inspector General Buckner, which fully explain the whole routine of camp duty to be per cruel, and also the restrictions to which it will be necessary for visiting citizens to be subjected;

HEADQUARTERS KENTUCKY STATE GUARD, CAMP BOONE, August 23, 1860.

Special Orders—No. 2.

14. Visitors to the encampment will be permitted to pass the line of sentinels between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M. only, except at hours which may interfere with the drills or parades. The officers of the guard will see that all persons not connected with the military leave camp at tattoo.

15. Sentinels will be instructed, while strictly performing every military duty, to show every civility and respect to visitors. Any one guilty of rudeness to the offending citizens will be visited with punishment. Citizens will enforce their orders with strictness, but at the same time in a manner which will not be unnecessarily offensive.

16. The fences, houses, and all property on the grounds are placed under the protection of the guard and of the officers and soldiers of the encampment, and any Commanding General is confident that the generosity of the citizens who have placed the grounds at our disposal will not be abused.

17. The boundaries of the Fair Ground are fixed as the limits for encampment, under penalty for a breach, by the militia law. The chain of sentinels will be established within those limits in such position as may be most suitable.

By order of S. B. BUCKNER, Inspector General.

CITY BUSINESS.—The two boards of General Council were in session last night until a late hour.

A resolution was passed by the two boards authorizing the issue and delivery of three hundred bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each in aid of the Memphis branch of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, payable in one, two, three, and four years from October 1st, 1860, directing the levy of a tax of twenty-five cents on the $100 to pay the principal and interest thereon.

The Common Council ordered repairs to be made on Third street, between Main and the river, at a cost of $600.

In the same board a proposition to levy a tax of five cents on the hundred dollars for school purposes, was discussed at great length. A vote was finally taken, which resulted in favor of the levy. Mr. T. C. Pomeroy voting in the negative.

At two o'clock this morning the Board of Council were discussing the ordinance to prohibit collectors giving change for city warrants in sums above five dollars.

A NEW HOUSE.—Such persons as are engaged in the retail trade will thank us for calling attention to the new establishment of Messrs. Wright, Fetching, & Co., at No. 541 Fourth street. This new firm occupy the old stand of Benanon & Thatcher, having purchased the entire stock of those gentlemen, to which they have added their own, embracing large and fresh importations of silks, dress goods, white goods, hosiery, watches, jewelry, and notions generally. The members of the new concern are individually and warmly commended to the confidence of the trade. Mr. Richard B. Cox, the junior partner, is a native of Louisville, and having had almost a life-long experience in his present line of business, knows the wants and tastes of the trade. Mr. Cox has been connected with the house of Ias. Low & Co. for a period of ten years, and his excellent business training, combined with unexceptionable natural habits, fits him to lead successfully in a complicated business. We wish the new firm a prosperous career.

BAIL RETUSED.—The preliminary examination of policeman Dunham, for the killing of Hartigan, was concluded in Memphis on Tuesday. The magistrate committed Dunham to jail, refusing bail. The Appeal says a writ of habeas corpus will be taken out.

☞ Mr. Isaac Park, in behalf of the sufferers by the late storm in Iowa and Illinois, acknowledges the receipt of seventy-five dollars in cash, a quantity of bedding and other supplies from the citizens of New Albany.

☞ Our readers are reminded that Mr. C. C. Spencer sells this morning at 10 o'clock two choice second hand pianos, and in addition to his regular sale of furniture, six new coal carts and a good buggy horse.

MOVEMENTS OF STOCK.—Large shipments of stock are made almost daily from this port for the South. The Fair Play and Mariner, which departed yesterday, took two hundred and twenty-two mules.

PERJURY.—A young man was arrested and lodged in jail last evening on the charge of false swearing. The crime is alleged to have been committed in the City Court yesterday morning.

THE PASTORAL RETREAT.—During this and the ensuing week the Catholic clergy of this diocese are engaged in Spiritual Retreat at Bardstown.

☞ The beautiful iron railing around the courthouse will soon be completed. The flagging in front of the main entrance is also about finished.

ARRESTS.—There were several arrests last evening, the greater number being for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

☞ The steamer Grey Eagle yesterday brought no less than fifteen hundred watermelons to this market.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

During the previous twenty-four hours the river had declined three inches last evening, at which time there were four feet three inches water in the canal. An erroneous report yesterday made us say there were three feet six inches in the canal, when we intended to say there were four feet six. There was a pleasant thunder shower in the vicinity yesterday, which cooled the atmosphere and allayed the dust.

At Pittsburg the river is stationary, with four feet six inches in the river and receding.

At Cincinnati last evening the river was at a stand, with eight feet nine inches water in the channel.

The river at St. Louis was stationary yesterday. There is four feet in the channel out to Cairo, and very little more water between Cairo and Memphis.

The Illinois river is falling, with 3 feet in the channel from Peoria to the mouth, and thirty inches above Peoria.

The Upper Mississippi is steadily falling, with 3 feet scant on the upper and 2 feet scant on the Lower Rapids. Below Keokuk there is 3 feet scant.

There has been no improvement in the streams in Arkansas. The Memphis Appeal says the Alamo arrived at Little Rock from Napoleon on Saturday, but she will make no more trips to the Rock while the river is at its present stage. The Isaac Dale will take the Alamo's place between Pine Bluff and Little Rock.

Capt. John M. Martin, of the Gen. Pike, arrived from Memphis by railroad on Wednesday, in advance of the boat. The Pike arrived yesterday. We are indebted to her commission clerk, Mr. N. L. Johnson, for a memorandum of news and papers.

The departure of the Mariner for Memphis was delayed until noon yesterday.

We are indebted to the Messrs. Halliday and to Mr. Ackerall, of the Southern Express, for favors.

The Tempest did not depart yesterday according to announcement.

There is a crusade in the Memphis City Council against the Fire Department. The Bulletin has been selected by the city of New York to analyze the BELL'S OPINION OF HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.—SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 14, 1860.—Some months since, while recovering from an attack of malignant fever, I was requested to try Hostetter's Bitters as an article peculiarly suited to the condition of convalescents from fever. I at first complied from the fact that the one he did, he must have done so in relation of his life. He stated, from actual experience, as we have at the beginning, that we must place this case as among the unavoidable results of the diseases of the river, and exempt the pilots Bentley and Schively from penalty for their agency in this matter.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

AT A MEETING OF THE LOCAL DIRECTORS OF the New York Life Insurance Company, held at the office of WM. S. VERMA, in the City of Louisville, Ky., March 16, 1860, the following was unanimously adopted:

The undersigned, President and Directors of the Company, have examined the report and exhibit of the New York Life Insurance Company for the year ending January 1, 1860, and have satisfied with its prosperous condition, cordially recommend it to the encouragement and support of the community.

The New York Life Insurance Company has been in existence fifteen years; its capital has attained the sum of $6,000,000, invested in State stocks, bonds, and mortgages on real estate.

We think it a most safe and profitable mode of investing money. The profits inure to the benefit of the insured, and have averaged not less than 30 per cent per annum on the premium paid.

Besides the investments in stocks, &c., the law of New York requires additional security, that $100,000 shall be deposited with the State Comptroller in case any lawful claim against the Company may fail to pay.

We invite attention to the nature, objects, and advantages of life insurance as set forth in this institution.

It will be seen by the above statement that this Company is in a flourishing condition. Those desirous of information in regard to the subject of Life Insurance would do well to call on the Local Agents of the above company, who will give any information that may be desired, or for reference apply to either member of the Local Board, all of whom are interested in this office.

Hosts of people are daily restored to health from complaint, nervous debility, disorders of the bowels, epileptic fits, pulmonary diseases, and other internal derangements have been rendered by this unapproachable medicine since its introduction into this country. HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE.

The following Testimony is convincing:

MESSRS. STEWART & BUTLER, Savannah, Ga.:

Gents: I received the package of Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Restorative, and, after giving it a fair and satisfactory trial, I feel constrained to say that it is the best article of the kind I know of, and will not hesitate to do its recommending to all in search of a genuine article.

Respectfully, JONAS F. BEESLEY.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 19, 1859.

MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & CO., New York:

Gents: Our firm having sold large quantities of your INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and hearing it so universally spoken of in terms of unqualified praise, in its unrivalled manner as to its "INIMITABLE" qualities, I was induced to give it a trial, which has resulted in my being troubled with falling of the hair, dryness of the scalp, as well as the additional assurance of many gray hairs, the scalp being apparently diseased. After faithfully using one small bottle of the Restorative, and following the directions, I am happy to say that the disease is entirely removed, and my hair is now in better condition than ever before. The hard, dry, feeling of the scalp is entirely gone out, and the scalp has resumed its functions. I must therefore pronounce it the most valuable article for the purpose you claim for it. In addition to my own case, I can refer to many others with a hundred times more than the same experience in its use as myself. You are at liberty to use this letter as you may see proper, and I will be happy to recommend your article to any and all occasions.

Yours respectfully, JAMES STEWART,
Of the firm of Stewart & Butler.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.—The evening Dispatch by our Liberal advices from the Continent in appearances that Garibaldi had landed a force of fifteen hundred men on the coast of Calabria. The statements seem to expect intelligence of the success of Victor Emanuel in the Italian peninsula. Being keenly the injustice which France maintains in favor of foreign powers in Italy, he has undertaken to make common cause with all other powers who have suffered in a similar way. In carrying out the policy of non-intervention, he commenced with Italy, which had been paralyzed for more than half a century by Austrian influence. Tuscany, Parma, Modena the Legations, and Sicily are already the trophies of his enterprise and statesmanship. Naples must soon be added to the list. When he has done with Italy, the same comprehensive policy will lead him to Turkey. It is quite clear that he will not have to settle the fate of the Ottoman question. He will furnish most of the troops, and by the terms agreed upon in the late Convention he evidently takes the rank of head physician at the bedside of the sick man. It is idle to suppose that the Sultan has the ability, if he had the disposition, to establish such a Government in Turkey as would furnish the Christian nations with indemnity for the past or security for the future. If he fails to do so however, he will be at the mercy of the revolutionary element in his own territories. England, by taking a part in the late conference on the other questions into which she has stepped unsuspiciously, has ceased to occupy the relation of protector to the Sultan; she is expelled from Turkey by a stratagem, as Austria was expelled from Italy by force. There are in European Turkey only about two million Turks to some thirteen millions of Greek Christians. Now that the chance of foreign interference in behalf of the Sultan has become impossible, it will not be long before we shall hear of risings among this oppressed majority, who will find a Garibaldi to organize and lead them in the hope and strength. Two paragraphs from foreign journals, which have recently fallen under our eye, lead us to suspect that the Turkish Garibaldi is already found.

A Paris correspondent of the Courrier de Marseilles writes:

The Emperor Napoleon, to recompense Abd-el-Kader for his conduct in favor of the Christians in Syria, has sent him the grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes:

I hear that Abd-el-Kader has, from a feeling of gratitude towards the Emperor of the French, offered his services for the suppression of the atrocities in the Lebanon. If the French government will place at its disposal three thousand good men, he engages to pacify the Mountain in very little time.

These two facts taken together, with the additional fact that the famous chief here referred to was long a prisoner in France and owes his liberation to the present Emperor, justify the impression that he is brought to the notice of the world at this moment by Napoleon for some special purpose.

These massacres in Syria are but the reaction from the Greek insurrection, which lasted nine years, and which is ready at any moment to break out again. It is only held back until everything is prepared for turning it to proper account. When ready, a word from their chief at St. Petersburg or their patriarch at Constantinople to the Greek Christians of Asia Minor would send the Mahometans to the rear, and the unwilling slaves of his conquests in affiliation. King Ferdinand, the Duchess of Parma, and the Dukes of Modena and Tuscany, there to be comforted, perhaps, at an early day, by the ministrations of Pio Nino. It is possible, that, in the struggle of the evil spirit to get out, the body of Turkey might be rent and some of the fragments fall into the hands of Russia, but we have no idea that anything more is contemplated by the European powers than to bring this important State fairly under the influence of European civilization, and we believe they will succeed. Mahomet Turkey ceases to be a camp and become a nation.

While Turkey is becoming regenerated the day of Hungarys deliverance will also dawn, or we entirely mistake the signs of the times; but of this hereafter.
